Common Waiver Types

Federal authority for Medicaid is established under Title XIX of the Social Security Act

The most common waiver types include:

- ✓ 1915(b) Managed Care Waivers:
  - To implement mandatory managed care programs.
- ✓ 1915(c) Home and Community-Based Care Waivers:
  - To provide additional services that are not typically covered by Medicaid if those services will help an individual remain in the community rather than be placed in an institution, such as a nursing home.
- ✓ Combined 1915(b) and (c) Waivers:
  - To provide long-term services in a managed care setting or through a limited pool of service providers.
- ✓ 1115 Demonstration Waivers:
  - To try new health care delivery approaches or payment methods or to otherwise improve patient care in a cost-effective way.

Waivers give States flexibility to implement new programs and provide additional services that may not normally be available under the traditional Medicaid program

Home and Community-Based Services Waivers

Medicaid Home and Community-Based Services Waivers (HCBS) are §1915(c) Waivers that offer individuals who require assistance with activities of daily living and/or supportive services the opportunity to receive care in the community rather than in a facility setting

Home and Community-Based Services Waivers

Coordination by Agencies

Multiple State and federal agencies play a role in Medicaid

Agency	Role
CMS	The unit of the Federal Department of Health and Human Services that administers the Medicare and Medicaid programs. Reviews Virginia's State Plan for Medical Assistance and any Waiver applications.
DMAS	State Agency responsible for the administration of Virginia's Medicaid and Children's Health Insurance programs.
DSS	Performs eligibility determinations for Medicaid and other programs.
DBHDS	The state agency that conducts many of the day-to-day functions of Developmental Disability Waiver operations and oversight.
VDH	Performs long-term care pre-admission screenings.

Medicaid or Medicare?

Medicaid and Medicare are two different programs. Here are some key facts:

- Both are health care programs.
- Medicare is operated entirely by the federal government, whereas Medicaid is operated by the State government, with funding and approval through the federal government.
- Medicare is mostly aged-based, while Medicaid is mostly income-based. Both programs cover individuals who have a disability.
- An individual can qualify for both Medicaid and Medicare – they are referred to as “dual eligible.”
  - If eligible, the Medicaid program may pay for the individual’s Medicare premiums, deductibles, and copayments.
  - Medicaid is always the “payer of last resort” – meaning that if a service is covered under both Medicare and Medicaid, the payment will be made by Medicare.
- Medicaid covers long-term nursing facility care, whereas Medicare typically will not.

Authority Governing Medicaid Program

Medicaid is governed by both federal and state authorities

- Federal Authority:

- United States Code (law passed by U.S. Congress)
- Code of Federal Regulations (regulatory actions initiated by federal agencies)

- State Authority:

- Virginia Code (law passed by Virginia General Assembly)
- Virginia Administrative Code (regulatory actions initiated by DMAS or other state agencies)
- Guidance Documents (Manuals and Medicaid Memos)
